Overseas trained medical doctors

Are you an overseas trained medical doctor who is considering working, or recently started working, in rural New South Wales, Australia?

If the answer is yes, then you may wish to apply for selection into the

International Medical Graduate Rural Familiarisation Program

This familiarisation program is designed to help International Medical Graduates transition into the Australian healthcare system with a particular focus on rural health.

To be considered for the program you will need to:

a) either be recently employed in a rural NSW hospital OR
b) meet each of the following criteria:

- Be eligible for Medical Board of Australia registration
- Have a minimum of 5 years experience preferably with at least 3 years experience in a hospital
- Have passed AMC Part 1
- Have relevant IELTS level English
- Have recent clinical practice (within the last 2 years)
- Be willing to work in a rural hospital in NSW
- Hold a valid and current visa to be in Australia
- Have no impediment to employment in Australia

The program includes pre-course on-line education, teleconferences and a two-day, face-to-face workshop with clinical simulation updates. Program content and tuition are provided at no charge.

On-line learning and teleconferences: Commence on 10 April 2017
Face to face Workshop: 11-12 May 2017, Dubbo NSW
