

How do you recognise a deteriorating woman in maternity care?

Deterioration in physical and/or mental state can happen to any woman during pregnancy, the intrapartum or postnatal period. A-G systematic assessment provides a structured approach to early detection of deterioration, with better outcome for the woman and fetus/baby.

This module provides information, an expert video and practice activities to guide your understanding of how to:

- perform an A-G systematic assessment
- recognise signs of deterioration in a woman's physical and/or mental state
- identify normal physiological changes in pregnancy
- identify teamwork and communication skills
- be aware of the impact of human factors.
