Orange Health Service is a 270-bed major non-metropolitan referral hospital, serving 300,000 people. We have just celebrated 10 years since relocating to the Bloomfield Campus. As the largest Rural Campus in the southern hemisphere, we are proud of our diverse range of specialist services. These include:

- Being the regional trauma centre for Western NSW with a FACEM-staffed Emergency Department
- Our Level 5 Intensive Care Unit is the referral unit for the Local Health District
- Our facility provides on-site specialist facilities in Renal, Gastroenterology, Respiratory Medicine, Haematology, Neurology, Ophthalmology, Dermatology, Palliative Care and Medical and Radiation Oncology Services, Cardiology, Interventional Cardiology, and Endovascular suites
- We have an on-site digital radiography that includes a 3T MRI and 2 LINACs for radiation oncology and nuclear medicine
- Most medical and surgical services are available, with the exception of spinal, burns, cardiothoracic, and neuro-surgery
- OHS has one of the largest regional Clinical Trials Units with dedicated staff conducting a range of trials including tele-trials and Phase 1 trials across a number of specialties.
- We are a teaching hospital associated with the University of Sydney and Charles Sturt University.

Our team strive to provide equitable and flexible rostering systems. We work hard to ensure your term preferences and rosters are built in consultation with you. This is so we can understand and support your career aspirations and work/life balance. We want your time in Orange to be more than just an enriching training opportunity so you can look back on this experience as time where you were connected to the local community, each other, and this beautiful part of the world.

Vocational Training

Orange Health Service has a strong emphasis on high quality education for JMOs. Some of the resources and experiences that will support your clinical skill development include:

- Weekly PGY1 Education
- Grand Rounds
- Simulation Centre Skills Lab,
- Vocational courses and workshops,
- 24-hour library,
- e-learning modules and computer access

We encourage the development of your critical analytical and research skills through our mentor-led Research and Quality Improvement Program. Projects through this program are supported financially and academically by Orange Health Service and The University of Sydney School of Rural Health, commencing in the PGY1 year. Our aim is to assist you to participate in or lead original medical research.

JMO's are well supported by senior staff. Term allocations are organised to accommodate junior medical staff requests ensuring appropriate pathways to preferred training programs.

Welcome to the Colour City

We live, work, and play on the land of the Wiradjuri Nation

Orange is a 3½ hour drive west from Sydney through the Blue Mountains, a site of natural beauty only a short drive away for day trips. There are regular commuter flights to Sydney, Melbourne and Brisbane.

The city offers excellent cultural, education, childcare and sporting facilities, including world class mountain bike trails, social and competitive bike and triathlon communities and regional swimming clubs.

Orange is one of Australia's leading wine growing regions, with a love of fine food and coffee, and a burgeoning café culture.

The city is surrounded by picturesque fruit growing areas, many vineyards and grazing country. It boasts some of the best food and high-altitude wine in New South Wales and is rich in festivals highlighting local produce and featuring celebrity chefs from Sydney and Melbourne.

Food and wine week showcase the legendary Forage, night markets as well as the Molong Mile Long dinner—must do events. Perhaps unexpected is Orange's involvement in the Arts, including a vibrant musical and theatrical scene. Orange is a fixture for touring international and Australian theatre and orchestral companies.
