

MY HEALTH
LEARNING

Mental State Examination

Undertaking and communicating a Mental State Examination (MSE) can be challenging but there's new online learning that can assist. Consider how this module can help you explore different perspectives and systematically conduct MSEs as one critical element of holistic mental health assessments.

The Mental State Examination is a core skill for most clinicians and this self-directed learning resource of 2-3 hours provides a practical approach to conducting the MSE. It explores how to undertake and communicate a MSE, as well as exploring the different perspectives included in the MSE: the patient, the mental health professional, the carer and the family of the patient.

Online learning is now available for a practical approach for conducting a MSE.

Search for Mental State Examination

Course Code: 324778962

HEALTH EDUCATION & TRAINING

myhealthlearning.health.nsw.gov.au